

Yan Ding, MSc, PhD candidate (Supervisor: Dr Hengjin Dong)

Research associate

Yan Ding received her Bachelor degree in Public Health Administration from Harbin Medical University, China in 2007 and her Master degree in Social Medicine from Fudan University, China in 2010.

She worked as a research assistant on several rural China related projects funded by WHO, EU and MOH of China and etc. Her major research interests are on health facility financing in resource poor settings and health economic evaluation methodology. She joined the Research Group on Health Economics and Financing in October 2010, mainly focusing on the economic evaluation study of ISSC project, an EU funded project on the early detection of infectious disease in rural China.

Publications:

Yan Ding, Fei Yan, Wei Wang, Baorong Yu, Youlong Gong. A Study on the Impact of New Cooperative Medical Scheme of Village Health Clinics in Ningxia and Shandong, China. Chinese Primary Health Care.2010.24(8)

Yan Ding, Zi-wen Wang, Lian-zhi Pang, Wei Wang, You-hua Yao, Hai-tao Cao, Fen-hong Yang, Fei Yan. Investigation and analysis of patients' satisfaction to community health services in Zhabei District, Shanghai. Chinese Health Resource. 2011(3):109-192

Wei Wang, Fei Yan, Cao-yi Xue, Xue Zhang, Zheng-hong Li, Yan Ding, Xu Qian. Factors Influencing Patients' Compliance with Hypertension Management in the Community: Qualitative Research Synthesis. Chinese Journal of Evidence-based Medicine 2010, 10(4): 429~432