Dear colleagues,

In recent years, new molecular insights in lymphoma biology have led to the development of new therapeutic agents which rapidly transform current treatment approaches. However, the optimal management of patients with malignant lymphoma still remains a matter of debate. The meeting “Current European Concepts in Malignant Lymphoma” will be a discussion platform for the various diagnostic and treatment approaches across Europe. The program aims to highlight European state-of-the art knowledge and to access the latest results on clinical and translational research of primary clinical relevance. In each session, a brief summary of the particular lymphoma entity of interest will be given by one of the speakers and will then be challenged by the following talks.

A first-class selection of international speakers will guarantee the highest quality of clinical science and a summary of the most recent developments in this very rapidly moving field.

We look forward to welcoming you in Heidelberg.
