

SFB 873

2nd Young Scientist Retreat

Grasellenbach, Germany

Meeting Highlights:

External speakers:

We are glad to announce Dr. Axel Behrens of the Cancer Research UK London Research Institute as an invited speaker. He will talk on his latest research on the molecular mechanisms of JNK and ATM kinase signalling and their function in stem cells and cancer. He will also be available for more discussion after his presentation.

We are also pleased to announce Dr. Judy Peng from Wiley Publishing in Weinheim, who will talk on scientific publishing and peer reviewing, and be available for questions.

Awards:

A prize of 100 EURO for the best short talk and the best poster. The prizes will be awarded during the joint afternoon session with the Principal Investigators on April 19th.

Meeting language:

The meeting will be held in English.

Preliminary programme:

- short talks of members of the SFB 873, presenting their recent progress in their projects
- brainstorming sessions
- a poster session
- a social event (outdoor if weather permits).

Costs:

Registration:

There is no registration fee. Registration requires the submission of an abstract (in English, max. 1 page) to s.bartels@dkfz.de.

Board and lodging:

Free of charge.

Participation, meeting costs and teambuilding activities: Free of charge.

Organized transportation:

Bus free of charge. No reimbursement for private transportation.